

670087

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A printer stores head information about a printhead in an EEPROM, and outputs the head information from an I/F. A host computer receives the 5 head information, and sets the processing parameters of an image processor for printing data to be output to the printer on the basis of the input head information.

008780-48504960